there's been so much that we've gone through yet we've carried on somehow the unity that binds us has made our souls as one but you are you

i am me
and there's so much more to become

friendship
is like a sunrise
on a quiet sea of pain

Tornado

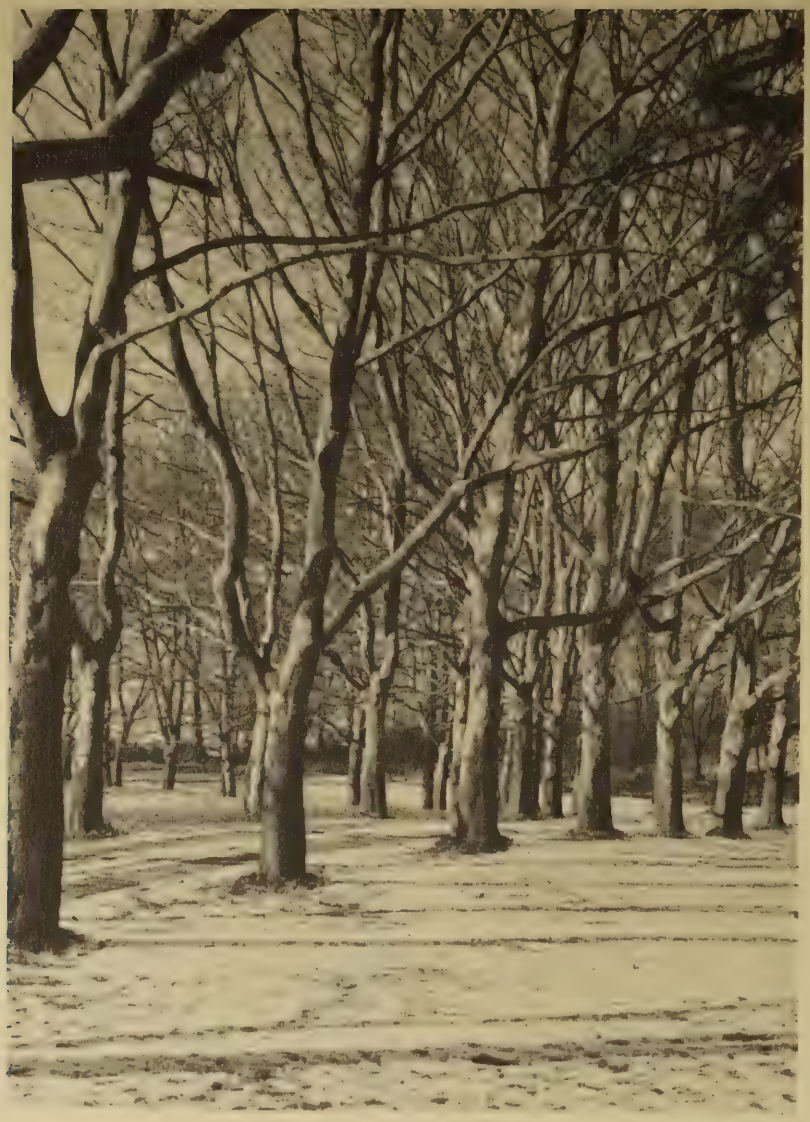

we give ourselves
to each other
then receive ourselves again

because of the love we share
we've opened up our eyes and in our moments of darkness

we can help
the sun arise

Dear Denise,
I want to take this opportunity to tell you that since the day I met you, I have always admired your very pleasant and calm personality. You possess a marvelous sense of oneness, of spiritual wholeness, that is not only very beautiful, but it has the power to relax and delight others. On many days I walked into World Religions class feeling rather depressed. On these days I made it a point to sit near you, for your gentle voice and soft motions always had a therapeutic effect. You generate a kind of inspiration to those around you and I will always remember you for that.

Also, I sincerely hope that by the time you graduate, you will have grown to love La Roche as much as I have. Best wishes and much success to you!

Peace,
Kathy

in memoriam

jeff hurst
june 16, 1953 – july 18, 1974

"In this crowded world there is no room for people who hate. It is this hatred we are taught and cannot help. We should rise above petty arguments and be brothers, for we are all in this together. We should love and forgive. It takes strength and power to forgive. I cannot hate anyone that lives."

Jeff Hurst

To the Graduates,

"The value of true friends cannot be measured on a chart....no scale on earth can weigh their worth except the human heart...."

The life of a college student is often criticized as being unreal, as being in "another world". Many people even speak of graduation as the moment when one "goes out into the world". It is true that there is a certain insulation from many worries and challenges while in a college, that a kind of ideal state for study and thinking is created during the four years of metriculation.

However, if the greatest reality in life is people, then college life is often lived at the deepest core of reality. Nothing is more real than friendship, for nothing else in the human condition so reaches the innards of our beings, so supports us in time of need, so lifts us up to moments of ecstatic joy. Friendships are made here that last for a lifetime--and perhaps even beyond.

Although college is, in everyone's life, a stopping-off place, a temporary scene, do not presume that the friendships of the present end with this moment of radical change in your life. Nurture them, cherish them, cultivate them. Carry them with you in that part of your being which no outer force can touch. They shall be the most enduring portions of your La Roche experience.

With peace and love,

Dr. Lauer

Dear Denise,
I've enjoyed knowing you, working with you, learning with you and sharing with you. You are a very warm and sensitive person as well as a feeling and intelligent young woman. I hope you stick to your resolution to speak your mind, for your judgment is sound and constructive. Good luck in all that you do. God bless you.
